The program fees in the MMXXVI.01 fee schedule apply to all new students who submit their application on or after June 3, 2026. They also apply to all new students whose starting date is on or after October 1, 2026 if they submitted their application before June 3, 2026. The program fees in a previous fee schedule may apply only to new students who submitted their application before June 3, 2026 and whose starting date is before October 1, 2026.

The other fees in this fee schedule apply regardless of a student's application date or starting date and may be changed without prior notice. Previous fee schedules are available to students where applicable. This fee schedule forms part of and needs to be read in conjunction with our Financial Policies, which also include the fee and payment policies, financial support, and the Terms and Conditions, as published on our website at <https://www.uibs.org/public-policies/financial-policies>. All fees remain in effect until an update is published.

Fees are shown in the stated currency and represent the total amount payable by private individuals, inclusive of any applicable VAT, consumption tax, or equivalent indirect tax; no additional tax is added. Our study programs and related services are exempt from such taxes in every jurisdiction where we operate, with the exception of Japan (Campus Tokyo), where the applicable Japanese consumption tax is included within the displayed fee. For business customers and other non-consumer recipients, different tax rules may apply depending on the specific service, the recipient's location, and the applicable tax regime; the applicable treatment will be confirmed on the relevant invoice.
